

Consumer Confidence Reporting Compliance in Arizona (Part 2 of 2)

June 23, 2021 • 9:00 am – 10:00 am

Informing your customers annually about the sources and quality of their water became a state and federal mandate with the 1996 Safe Drinking Water Act (SDWA) amendments. Regulations were updated in 2012 to allow for electronic delivery of Consumer Confidence Reports (CCRs). The exact format and language required for a CCR can be confusing to those creating the report, and to customers trying to understand it. This workshop will guide you through the process of producing a proper CCR for your water system for calendar year 2021. You will learn how to access the resources available on the SDWD website, the information that must be included, and the various delivery options.

Participants will learn:

- Where to find and download Arizona specific CCR template and guides
- The required language
- Important dates/deadlines
- Distribution methods
- Public relations information

The recommended audience includes anyone who has responsibility for producing and distributing CCRs, or for gathering the data necessary for its completion.

This course will provide 1 Professional Development Hour (PDH).

When: June 23, 2021 • 9:00 am – 10:00 am (Pacific Time)
