

Practical HECM Default and Foreclosure Prevention Counseling

A two-webinar series • October 13 & 15, 2020

The COVID-19 pandemic is resulting in foreclosure concerns for many people, including those with reverse mortgages. This two-webinar series is designed to provide counselors the tools and knowledge required to assist high-risk seniors facing the loss of their home due to a Home Equity Conversion Mortgage (HECM). This course is for HECM counselors as well as counselors with limited to no knowledge of HECM loans, who receive calls from widows, children and homeowners facing the loss of their HECM mortgaged homes.

The course will provide counselors with objective knowledge and tools required to help navigate the reverse mortgage default process, and understand the conditions in which a default may be cured. Counselors will be able to guide their clients through the application process to cure a default when possible, as well as provide explanations and alternatives when a default cure is not possible.

Scholarships are available for all non-profit and quasi-governmental agencies.
